Teachers' Feedback Analysis

The feedback responses provide a clear picture of the strengths and areas that need improvement in the college's academic and administrative aspects. Below is a descriptive analysis based on the percentage responses.

The feedback indicates that teachers are generally satisfied with the institution's academic structure, administration, and infrastructure. The NEP 2020 syllabus and FYUGP credit system received strong approval, with most teachers agreeing that the curriculum is well-structured and effective. The balance between theory and practical components is also appreciated, ensuring a well-rounded learning experience for students. The admission process is highly efficient, with 100% of teachers expressing satisfaction. Similarly, administrative support, including cooperation from staff and the principal, is seen as a major strength, contributing to a smooth academic environment. The internal evaluation and examination system was also well-rated, indicating fairness and efficiency in assessments. In terms of infrastructure, classrooms and furniture are adequate, and clean drinking water is available, both receiving positive feedback from faculty members. However, some areas require improvement. ICT facilities for teachers received mixed reviews, with over 37% expressing dissatisfaction, highlighting a need for better technological support. Toilets and washrooms were another concern, with 25% of teachers dissatisfied, indicating a need for better maintenance. Additionally, while faculty engagement in decision-making is mostly positive, some teachers feel more opportunities for participation should be provided.

Recommendations for Improvement

Upgrade ICT facilities to support digital learning.

Improve sanitation facilities, particularly restrooms.

Enhance faculty involvement in decision-making.
