2.2.1. The institution assesses the learning levels of the students and organizes special Programmes for advanced learners and slow learners

Sankardeva Mahavidyalaya admits students from different socio-economic backgrounds and conducts every possible measure to assess the learning levels of the students. The students are counseled, guided and oriented immediately after the admission to make them aware about the course, mode of internal assessment, external evaluation, curricular and co-curricular activities as well as facilities available in the college. At the beginning of each course teachers plan special programmes for advanced learners and slow learners to assess the learning levels of the students, their knowledge about the course. They conduct different levels of in their respective departments and after analyzing the result, they divide the students into two groups-advanced learner and slow learner. The advanced learners are encouraged to make poster and PPT presentations. They are constantly guided and encouraged for participation in seminars, symposiums as well as in inter-collegiate competitions. Advanced students also assist slow learners through group discussions, fostering a collaborative learning environment. They are informed about different competitive examinations and are advised to go through standard reference books in the library as well as to assess internet sources. To support slow learners, the department provides study materials and offers remedial classes through course discussions to enhance their academic progress.
